

TECHVOLT

Shipping Information

Information about order processing, delivery, shipping charges, tracking, delays, and delivery support.

1. Order Processing

Orders are processed after the order has been successfully placed and any required payment or verification has been completed. Processing time may vary depending on product availability and order volume.

2. Shipping Availability

TechVolt may offer delivery to locations supported by the website. Available delivery locations and shipping options will be shown during checkout where implemented.

3. Processing Time

Orders are generally prepared for shipment within the processing period shown by TechVolt. Products marked as unavailable or out of stock may require additional time or may not be available for immediate shipment.

4. Delivery Estimates

Estimated delivery times depend on the delivery location, shipping method, product availability, weekends, holidays, and circumstances outside TechVolt's control. Delivery estimates are not guaranteed unless expressly stated otherwise.

5. Shipping Charges

Applicable shipping charges, if any, will be displayed during checkout before the order is confirmed. Shipping charges may vary based on destination, order size, weight, or selected shipping method.

6. Order Tracking

Where tracking is available, tracking details may be provided after the order has been dispatched. Customers should use the provided tracking information to monitor delivery progress.

7. Delivery Delays

Delivery may be delayed because of weather, transportation issues, holidays, address problems, high order volume, service disruptions, or other circumstances beyond TechVolt's reasonable control.

8. Incorrect or Incomplete Address

Customers are responsible for providing a complete and accurate delivery address. Additional charges or delays may occur if an order cannot be delivered because of incorrect or incomplete address information.

9. Damaged Package

If a package appears damaged at delivery, customers should document the condition where possible and contact TechVolt promptly with the order details and supporting photographs.

10. Missing or Incorrect Items

If an order is missing an item or contains an incorrect item, contact TechVolt through the Contact Us page as soon as possible so the issue can be reviewed.

11. Contact and Support

For shipping questions, customers can use the TechVolt Contact Us form. The support email and phone information are also available in the website footer.
